

Day 11

- 📖 Bless me indeed, and I don't even know all I am asking for! Bless me with new trust in You (Ps. 2:12b, 5:11).
- 📖 Enlarge my territory. Do more—visibly and powerfully—in my world. I give You my fear of the unknown and of my own inadequacy, because it does not depend on me. Give me the faith to live out Your obedience designed for me for Jesus' sake (Jer. 1:7-9,12).
- 📖 Let Your hand be with me. Touch my life to see inexplicable, Spirit-enabled deeds of grace and glory. As Your eye runs to and fro, seeking to show Yourself strong on behalf of those whose heart is loyal to You, I ask You to fashion my heart to be more completely Yours than ever (2 Chron. 16:9).
- 📖 Keep me from evil. Hide me in the secret place of Your presence from the plots of man. Keep me secretly in Your shelter from the strife of tongues (Ps. 31:20-21). Put the cross of Jesus between me and temptations that pull at me mentally, emotionally, and physically. Keep me free of any sense of entitlement, what I have a “right” to feel and enjoy.
- 📖 Show me how to reap in the natural the harvest that has been accomplished by prayer in the prayer closet (1 Kings 18:36-38, James 5:16).
